Management's discussion of fund performance

The fund's Class T shares gained 4.12% for the year ended July 31, 2024. That result compares with a 2.92% gain for the Bloomberg Municipal Short-Intermediate 1-10 Years Index.

What factors influenced results

Toward the end of 2023, the municipal bond market rallied alongside declining U.S. Treasury yields. With investors in the market more willing to take on risk during the last year, lower quality bonds significantly outpaced their higher quality counterparts, despite the elevated rate volatility. High-yield municipals outpaced investment-grade issues by over 5.6%, according to the Bloomberg Municipal High Yield Bond Index and the Bloomberg Municipal Index, respectively.

Each of the fund's sectors provided positive returns to the portfolio. The fund's holdings in corporates, housing and education debt were particularly additive during the period. Likewise, holdings in health care and utility bonds were meaningful contributors, despite lagging the portfolio's overall return. From a rating perspective, investment-grade bonds saw returns surpassing those of the overall portfolio except for AA-rated bonds.

Duration positioning negatively impacted the fund's overall results. Holdings in tobacco bonds and general obligation* municipals, while still positive, detracted somewhat from the broader portfolio's return.

* A general obligation bond is a municipal bond backed solely by the credit and taxing power of the issuing jurisdiction rather than the revenue from a given project.

Portfolio quality summary*

* Bond ratings, which typically range from AAA/Aaa (highest) to D (lowest), are assigned by credit rating agencies such as Standard & Poor's, Moody's and/or Fitch as an indication of an issuer's creditworthiness. In assigning a credit rating to a security, the fund looks specifically to the ratings assigned to the issuer of the security by Standard & Poor's, Moody's and/or Fitch. If agency ratings differ, the security will be considered to have received the highest of those ratings, consistent with the fund's investment policies.
